

California Cruising

Enjoy Wines Along Historic Highway 101

*US 101 is perhaps the most historic highway in California and was commissioned in 1926 as one of the original US highways. It originally went from the Mexican Border south of San Diego to Olympia, Washington. South of San Francisco it follows the route that Spanish explorer Juan Gaspar de Portola followed in 1769, which later became El Camino Real, "The King's Highway". North of San Francisco it is known as the "Redwood Highway," which is considered by many to be the most scenic road in California.
Here are some selections from this historic California Route.*
